From the Fact That Taylor's Committee Want to Divide With the Independents.

List of Appointments for Pettibone, to Which Taylor is Invited.

Special Dispatch to the Chronicle,

GREENEVILLE, September 9. Messrs, Reeves and Dickson, chairmen of the Republican and Democratic Congressional executive committees of the first district of Tennessee, met here to-day to consult on a list of appointments for the dis cussion between Pettibone and Taylor, Mr. Dickson demanded that Randolph or any other independent candidates should be invited to participate. This, Colonel Reeves could not agree to. A list of appointments has been made for Pettibone, and Taylor is nouncement is as follows:

PUBLIC SPEAKING. Hop. W. S. Dickson, chairman of the Democratic executive committee of the First Congressional district of Tennessee, having met the undersigned at Greenville, Tenn., September 9th, 1882, for the purpose of arranging a list of appointments for the Republican and Democratic candidates for Congress, and having declined to agree to a list of appointments for joint discussion between Hon. A. H. Pettibone and Hon. R. L. Taylor, nominees of their respective parties, unless the undersigned would agree to a division of time with any other candidate that might ask for it, this is to give notice that Hon, A. H. Pettibone will speak at the following times and places, and will divide time with Hon. R. L. Taylor, the nominee of the Democratic party, who is cordially invited to meet him :

Governor Hawkins Handsomely Received and Makes a Good Impression.

Special Dispatch to the Chronicle. ATHENS, TENN, September 9.

A large number of Democrats and Republicans assembled here to-day to listen to the discussion between Fussell, Beasley and Hawkins. Fussell and Beasley led off with a speech each of an hour and fifteen minutes and were followed by Governor Hawkins, who thoroughly ventilated the platform of each of the respective Democratic candidates, and thoroughly and lucidly depicted the foulness of was a master effort, and elicited the warmest applause from all present.

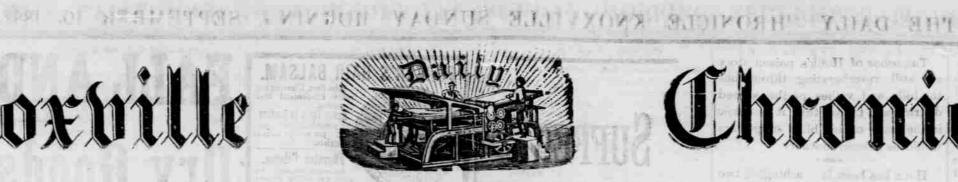

At the close of his speech he was present ed with two beautiful bouquets, with the compliments of the young ladies of Athens. "To the present and Future Governor of Tennessee." The old gentleman's face fairly beamed with pleasure as he, in the most kindness. His speech gave general satisfaction and he has made many friends here jority for him next November.

The Star Route Jury Still Unaagreed Upon a Verdict.

Estimated that the Trial will Cost the Government $200,000.

Washington, September 9 .- The jury in the Star Route cases came into court shortly after ten o'clock and announced that they had not agreed upon a verdict, and asked for further instructions. These were given by Judge Wylie at considerable length, and their general tendency was strongly against the defendants. At their own request the jury was allowed to take their notes to the jury room and again retired. They will report at two o'clock, to which time the court took a recess.

> Alderman Brooks suggested and the motion was also amended, allowing the 5th, 6th and 7th wards fifty copies each. The motion then prevailed, without objection. Hon, O. P. Temple, postmaster, by permission, made some remarks, stating that Mr. Hamilton W. Hall, agent of the postpose of examining the city with a view to establishing a free letter delivery system; that the agent is favorably impressed with lishing a free delivery, but it is necessary first for the city to num er the houses of the city, and also to have a plot made of the city, numbering each ter. He came before the city council at the suggestion of the agent, and by his own volition, at the earliest moment to have action taken. The Philadelphia plan of numbering was suggested as the best. It can be arrived at hereafter. It was suggested that it is customary for the city to bear the expense of laying off the plat of the city, but the citizens and owners of houses and property must bear the expense Alderman Brooks stated that he had been appointed on a committee, in connection with City Enginerr E F. Fuller, looking to a plan for numbering the houses of the city, and they were now in correspondence on that subject.

On motion of Alderman Heiskell, Alderman Logan was added to the committee on lettering, with the understanding that they 3 5 0 3 0 2 0 0 2 15 go to work at once. Judge Temple promised co-operation and all the assistance necessary in the matter.

"It would be delicious," she exclaims, "to steal away on a beautiful summer night like this, with the moon shedding a glory over all the earth, and seek some little ivy-crowned chapel where a hooded priest was waitin, and there be made the wife of the man you love. It would be just too sweet"and she draws still closer to him. "It is moonlight to-night," Harold says. 'Yes," replies the girl. "And there is a chapel in yonder dell." "I know it," Bertha says "There is only one thing wanting"-he speaks the words slowly, and with a tinge of pathos in his tones. "What is that !" asks the girl, bending forward to catch his every word. "A man to marry," he hisses in hoarse, bitter tones, and
